

eco congregation Scotland

Eco-Congregation Scotland is an ecumenical movement helping local groups of Christians link environmental issues to their faith, reduce their environmental impact, and engage with the community.

Our vision

A Scotland that cares for God's creation, now and forever.

We provide

Eighteen local networks across Scotland where congregations can meet each other and share ideas.

Written materials for study, worship and practical action.

Regular newsletters to keep you informed on environmental issues.

An annual meeting of eco-congregations from across Scotland.

An environmental audit for your church.

A web site at www.ecocongregationscotland.org.

An environmental chaplain who supports people to explore the theological and spiritual basis of care for creation.

Links with other organisations.

An awards scheme recognising achievement by local congregations.

Registration

There are over 300 eco-congregations in Scotland.

To join them please visit our web site or ask us for a registration form.

You do not need to have done any environmental work to register — it is a statement of intent; that your church is concerned about the environment and wants to do something about it in the future.

Award Scheme

You will see our award plaques outside many Scottish churches.

The Eco-Congregation Award recognises achievement, affirms good practice that promotes or contributes to sustainability, and witnesses to your local community of the importance you give to caring for creation.

Join us today!

To register as an eco-congregation or for further information please visit our web site: www.ecocongregationscotland.org

✉ Eco-Congregation Scotland, 121 George Street, Edinburgh, EH2 4YN

📧 manager@ecocongregationscotland.org

☎ 0131 240 2274

